Croker and Divver Violated the Corrupt Practices Law.

They Were the Instigators of the Fraud in the Second.

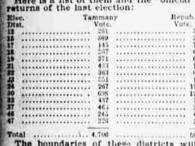

Offered Prizes for Big Votes and Now Desert Their Tools.

The testimony in the trial of James A. Dooley, who was convicted of tampering with the ballots while acting as inspector in the Nineteenth Election District of the Second Assembly District, shows of how hanner districts are made and carried by Tammany Hall.

In the Nineteenth Election Precinct of the Second Assembly District 271 votes, all that were registered, were recorded for Maynard, and none for Bartlett, although eleven or twelve men swore they either voted the Republican ticket of were registered, but did not vote.

There are thirteen other election districts in this Assembly district in which similar liberties were taken with the ballot. In some the Tammany Inspectors, in their zeal to carry off the banner, did not even allow the ballots of the Republican inspectors and watchers to go into the box, as the figures below yill show. In fourteen districts "Paddy" Divver's heelers surpassed themselves and all records of ballot-box stuffing in New York. They gave Tammany Hall 4,706 votes, and the Republicans fifty. The 4,706 Tammany votes cast in the fourteen election districts in question almost equal the honest Democratic vote of the entire Assembly district, the normal vote being estimated at 8,000. There are thirty-four other election districts in the Second, but the fourteen mentioned take the paim for fraud.

Jury might make the subject of barner districts one for investigation, and that the result might be the indictment of Richard Croker, "Paddy" Divver and others. The Inducement to swell the votes in the various districts came from Croker, who offered prize banners to the three districts returning the largest vote for Tammany, and Divver, to encourage the enterprise, offered three sub-prizes to be given to the captains making the best showing. One prize was a gold watch, another a $1,500 appointment, and a third was a diamond ring. The biggest vote was in the Thirtieth Precinit of 88-but the captain make the mistake of allowing twelve Republican votes to be recorded, and the prizes wont to the gentlemen who were not so half-hearted and who defent allow the other follows to have one vote.
